What's new:

: Dave Williams must have had his sights set on the PDC's individual rankings even before his success in the 2012 world final. How big is the Welshman's ranking success this year? Williams: Well my ranking hit its peak this year and it is probably going to go down a little this year, but who knows. Last year it was 17th, ranking unbeaten for 10-12 months and then I beat Terry Jenkins in the World final so it changed a bit. I'm just going to be playing here and there. I should be at the top of the rankings at the end of the season anyway, my ranking has a clause for ranking number 1 and I'm just going to be putting myself into a position where I can get that. Warstone TD: Has your preparation for the professional game stepped up this year or has it not changed since you qualified for the World final? Williams: Yeah, I've just been playing a lot more consistently, scoring and performing like I used to. Obviously the date of winning has thrown a bit of a monkey wrench in that planning now because I have to work on getting the ranking up to number 1 [step] in time for that. That would be my main aim that year because I am tired of getting there and never winning the pot of gold it is over with, so that is why I qualified for it. The plan is to win it in 2013/14 so I'd better carry on doing the job I used to do the last 5 or 6 months of this year otherwise my ranking drop again. Warstone TD: So if for example Henry Schein had been the champion at the end of 2013, how would your climb up the rankings work? Williams: If I was in that position, I'd definitely be going to the World final. I would then play somewhere over Christmas so I could come second in the rankings then wait for the ranking to reset and then go again, but if the ranking never reset that would be hard so I'd be hoping the rankings did. Another thing is that the Professional Darts Corporation has now joined the International Darts Federation so they have restricted how much we can practise or have lessons. Well I have the best chance in the world because that is what I do. I don't need lessons and I didn't need lessons to beat him [Jenkins]. It's the same as the 2013 World final, I
